Mendocino Short Range Transit Development Plan (SRTDP)

Given the evolving needs of transit users within Mendocino County to maximize mobility options for the local communities a Short Range Transit Development Plan (SRTDP) is currently being developed to guide MTA's operations over the next five years.

MTA wants to engage with the community and passengers to understand ways MTA can better serve their needs, attract more riders, and identify ways to provide more effective services. Join us to learn about the plan timeline and help inform its components and opportunities for improvement.
